"For every acre of land we have identified, a community will be kept informed and assured to participate in the project," he said at a programme in Chandigarh organised by Chandigarh Vision Group. The Chief Minister said a 532 km long water line was being laid and a number of other projects were also in the pipeline. "We are striving to make Delhi a clean, green and pollution-free city by 2024," he said. To ensure access to good quality water, there is an initiative to cover 49,000 villages in the country. The government is also focusing on sanitation-related issues through an initiative named 'Dept of Sanitation'. There are 17 out of 25 collectorates in Delhi that have been operationalised. He said most of the unplanned colonies have been demolished and plots allotted for permanent houses. "Around 36 acres of land is being taken up for housing," he said. Kejriwal said around 10 lakh people have come out of poverty in the 6d1f23a050
