Then, you need to launch the patch file and open it in Notepad. If you do not have Notepad, you can download a free version of this software from Microsoft. After the patch file is opened, you need to locate the section that says \"Add the following registry key\". Under the section that says \"Add the following registry key\", you need to put a new registry key that will put the software into a different security level. Once the registry keys have been changed, you need to save them and close the program. After this, you need to run the patch again and run the update again. This process should be repeated until all the security keys are gone and you have the full version of the software. Just remember, this is illegal and you risk going to jail for this.
